

ABSTRACT

In 2022 the government will issue a policy to increase the price of fuel oil (BBM). In Indonesia, this policy also applies in South Sumatra. The political party that has consistently stated its political stance to reject the policy of increasing fuel oil (BBM) prices is the Prosperous Justice Party (PKS). This research examines the factors behind the consistency of the political attitude of the Prosperous Justice Party (PKS) towards rejecting the policy of increasing fuel oil (BBM) prices. This type of research is descriptive qualitative, with primary data in the form of interview results. Meanwhile, secondary data is in the form of literature, journals, theses, articles and internet news sites about the research conducted. The research results show that the factor behind his consistent attitude is the defense of the interests of the people which is taken from the party's political attitude, namely from the vision of the Prosperous Justice Party (PKS). Vision of the Prosperous Justice Party (PKS) as a pioneer party in realizing the national ideals of the Indonesian nation as intended in the preamble to the 1945 Constitution of the Republic of Indonesia.
