Title : The Relationship between Money Attitude and Impulsive Buying for Class XII Students at SMA Tri Dharma Palembang

This study aims to determine whether there is a relationship between money attitude and impulsive buying in class XII students at SMA Tri Dharma Palembang. The research method used is a quantitative correlational method and data collection using a scale. The population in this study were all class XII students at SMA Tri Dharma Palembang, totaling 83 people, and a sample of 83 people. Sampling in this study used total sampling. The research instruments used were the money attitude scale and the impulsive buying scale using the Money Attitude Scale (MAS) and Impulse Buying Tendency (IBTC) measuring instruments. The results of data analysis using the Pearson's Product-Moment correlation analysis technique with the help of statistic software showed a significant positive relationship between money attitude and impulsive buying in class XII students at SMA Tri Dharma Palembang. This is evidenced by the results ($r = 0.650$; $p = 0.000$).
